SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The conclusion of each academic year inevitably brings with its gladdening the effervescent afterglow of bittersweet memories.

Invariably, the thoughts of the student recall to memory many occurrences of the preceding years. The unpleasant incidents are quickly relegated to the farthest recesses of his mind; the happy events are ruminated once again for fear that some may have been overlooked.

To say, unreservedly, that all our days spent at the B. C. D. S. were occasions of rejoicing would insult the intelligence of the faculty and seriously question the integrity of the students. There have been moments of melancholy and exultation; of remorse and unmitigated joy; of grave disappointment and unbounded confidence; of elation and dejection.

The class made its inauspicious debut at the time when more momentous occurrences were coursing the current world events. A spirit of levity was conspicuously absent and the prevailing atmosphere was one of deep concern.

Our instructors charitably took us in hand and we skipped merrily into the labyrinthine maze of Anatomy, Histology and Biochemistry. Though shaken, we emerged unscathed and our horizon once again came into view. What we thought to be a brief respite was merely the calm before the tempest. Neuroanatomy, with its tortuous convolutions, offered no surcease from our state of befuddlement and confusion. While we groped, we learned, and as we learned we realized the deep satisfaction that comes from the knowledge of a task well done.

The end of the freshman year brought the usual sighs of relief. The students, one and all, through some misconception, thought their days of travail at an end. Surely the freshman year would have been sufficient to mold that "veritable fortress of knowledge" which would accompany us through life. But there was more. The sophomore year was upon us, its pregnant textbooks teeming with data we were to make part of ourselves. In order not to waste precious time, the faculty deemed our collective intellects agile enough by now to coordinate our nimble fingers. The technic courses came in profusion and we were saved only by our indomitable will to survive.

The advent of our first clinical year superseded anything that had been presented to us before. From the moment of its inception we realized the magnitude of the task. The multitude of courses designed to teach us technic were merely introductions to something infinitely greater. Each patient entrusted to our care came as an individual, an entity that would not respond to the careless diffidence with which we had regarded our endoforms.

By that time though, our very stable foundations were firmly ingrained. Slowly, gradually, almost imperceptibly, our attitudes began to change. Gone were the cross petulances of the formative years; our impulses had become occasions for deliberation, and the rudiments of professionalism were slowly inculcated.

Today as we look about us, that feeling of ineptness, once so painfully ours, has been replaced by a placid composure. We are amazed that this sensation of adequacy should have finally evolved from our humble attitude of some months ago.

Perhaps this feeling of competence is a natural concomitant of the long, arduous years of study; perhaps it is a true evaluation of our sense of importance and of the quality of our work; or perhaps we have so run the gamut of human emotions that nothing else can perceptibly shake our composure again.

We take leave, but not without regrets and certainly not without the joyous jubiliations we have so well earned. We leave no testament to those classes following: merely the evidence of a task completed; the uncertainty of one yet to be begun.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The Juniors increased in number from nineteen as of June to twenty-two as of September. With the wearing of clinic coats the development of our professionalism was well under way. Yes, and Muhlbauer now combs his hair once a week.

Now, with the lounge filled with wandering, dazed freshman asking, "What does Dr. McCrea ask about Embryology?" or beaten-down Sophomores whispering, "What kind of a quiz does Dr. Shay give?" we can just smile and say, "It's a cinch—read the fine print." But at the same time our fingers are crossed as we wonder what Dr. Anderson will give.

It is noticeable that our enthusiasm has not been diminished by any misadventure that has befallen any member and that we hold vigorously to all aims and ideals that dentistry offers us.

In "firsts," for which our class is noted, we have found the perfect excuse for missing an exam. Just be a female—arrange for a wedding in December—and five minutes prior to a quiz say, "I resign!" However we wish her all the good fortune possible in her new adventure.

Clinic: The mourners' bench—three days on it and no patient yet. Who said that you could place a dam in five minutes? Prophys: Where the— did that piece of calculus come from? Where's that tooth? I can see it in the mirror and can't find it with the explorer. I wonder if the patient knows the difference between scraping and scaling. "Doctor, what is this?" "I was just removing some decay and look—something red is there." Milne develops a new technic for removing cotton rolls. "Charlie, next time try a larger bur; it will grip harder. It also works on rubber dams." "Dr. Randolph—will you please check this preparation?" Dr. Randolph: "You are doing fine—extend this a little further—better gain more resistance and retention—this wall should be straight and continuous—you forgot the line angle—who said a cavo-surface bevel for silicates?—yes, more debris in there—sure you are coming along fine—carry on."

Assignments: Two surgery rooms per Junior and Dr. Toomey says, "When you have time you may look at the skull there in the case." Dr. Biddix: "There'll be no technic work while on assignment." X-ray: "Junior, here are three more full series after those are finished." "Now you curl up the lower mesial corner and then twist as if you are going to scoop up the tongue."

Back of all this is the hope that we can justify our presence in the field of dentistry. Our aims and goals are aided and abetted by the enthusiasm, the ideals, and the helping hands offered us in the spirit of the ideology and heritage of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The Class of 1950 came back this year 90 strong. Our aim was high with a resolution to overcome any pitfalls or roadblocks that lay in our way. We were no longer the "gased" freshman of last year, we were now upperclassmen, men of experience, old timers. But with Dr. Shay's first Bacteriology exam, reality was restored and once again we settled down to the job at hand.

In October a rather stormy class election was held with promises of an even hotter campaign in '48. This year's crop of beavers is larger than that of last year. It is a frequent sight to see an eager soph running around during the lunch hour borrowing an instrument or two in order to plug a gold foil in his endoform. Prosthetics, plus Crown and Bridge, fills up many a noon hour for all when deadlines have to be met. This year in almost every course the class is able to see the close relationship to actual dentistry.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

The freshman class entered the dental school in September with 110 members, representing nearly one half of all the states, as well as Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and the British West Indies. The majority of the class comes from those states along the Atlantic seaboard ranging from Maine to Florida; the Western states are represented, also. Most of the class, the second of the post-war classes, had seen service in the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps.

In order to afford evaluation of our skill and knowledge at the beginning of our training, the class served as the second test group of the

B. C. D. S. by participating in a series of aptitude tests created by the A. D. A.

Our introduction to the B. C. D. S. during registration period set the pace for the days ahead, for we soon found ourselves in laboratory or library during lunch periods. Nevertheless, we appreciated a full schedule because we realized the necessity for compensations for the years that we had been delayed in securing the training for our chosen profession. Such an attitude is not surprising; for the average of the class is over 25. A large percentage of us have entered the state of matrimony, and not a few of us have become parents. In addition to a sincere desire to become members of the profession, these domestic responsibilities tempered any tendency toward carelessness and emphasized the importance of absorbing the knowledge and acquiring the skills we hope to use in the future.

The Student Activities Council was organized in 1936 in fulfillment of a desire manifested by the students for an organization that would closely associate the School's extra-curricular activities. As a result of suggestions made to the Council by the classes through their representatives, the Council has, in its several years of existence, brought about many worthwhile improvements in the general conduct of student affairs at the School. Each year the Council co-sponsors the social functions of the various classes; it also plays an active part in the support of the School's publications. The Council has been most successful in bringing about a closer student-faculty relationship.

The Gorgas Odontological Society was founded in 1916 on principles of scholastic ability, character, and professional bearing. The organization was founded in honor of Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas, an illustrious alumnus of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Vice-President JOHN THOMPSON
Secretary BEN WARD
Treasurer LEONARD COPEN
Historian HAROLD STANLEY
Sergeant-at-Arms PATRICK STROLLO

The organization was founded in 1942 as a memorial to one of the college's most esteemed teachers. The seminar group established for itself four main purposes: (1) to encourage and stimulate thought and activities along lines of research related to dentistry; (2) to acquaint its members with the latest developments in dental science; (3) to render its members more adept in the presentation of scientific papers; (4) to promote a more rational insight into problems which confront us, as future members of the dental profession.

First row: H. Stanley, P. Strollo, J. Kenneally, S. Zimmerman, J. Griffin, A. Bobenko, D. Lewis, D. Gold, L. Copen, P. Hernandez.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

OFFICERS

President LEO READY
Vice-President ROBERT COLEMAN
Secretary-Treasurer DAVID LEWIS

The council is composed of members from each of the three fraternities, whose responsibility is to serve the best interests of both the school and each member fraternity. Since its founding in 1945 it has been an important factor in promoting the goodwill and fraternalism present in all student relations.

Left to right: T. Leizman, R. Coleman, B. Williamowsky, L. Ready, W. Dodson, J. Fenton, D. Lewis, E. Kostas.

THE GLEE CLUB

First row: B. Ward, P. Heining, E. Zimmermann, V. Diefenbach, L. Melendez, T. Walter.
Second row: D. Lewis, J. Page, E. Armstrong, H. Stanley, H. Gerken, Dr. J. Cappuccio.
Third row: J. Scribner, C. Alcott, J. Fenton, D. Hobbs, D. Titus, S. Zimmerman

The organization of the Glee Club evolved in the fall of 1946 from a move suggested by Dr. H. B. McCarthy to give better opportunities to those students who had indicated a predilection for singing by their persistent attempts at vocalizing during the various School social functions. The Student Activities Council undertook to sponsor the organization of a Glee Club, and the membership was opened to the entire student body. In the initial year of its existence, the club, under the able leadership of Miss Martha Adamson, made great progress, and the various concerts held at the School and at local churches were enthusiastically received. This year the directorship of the club was undertaken by Viron Diefenbach, an accomplished musician and a member of the Sophomore Class. The interest in the Glee Club has continued, and at present over twenty-five students make up its active membership.

OUR PSALM

V. Black is my shepherd; I shall not want points.
 He maketh me to plug foil in the cuspids;
 He leadeth me into the embrasures.
 He restoreth my contact;
 He guideth my preparations in straight planes for retention's sake.
 Yea, though I drill through dentin and the contents of pulp,
 I will fear no exposure,
 For Kenneth is with me.
 His mirror and his explorer they comfort me,
 He preparest progress charts before me in the presence of mine instructors;
 He hast anointed my slab with cement; my alcohol lamp runneth over.
 Surely shy margins and fractures shall follow me all the days of my life;
 And I shall dwell at Lombard and Greene forever.

OUR PRAYER

Our instructors who are in the clinic, hallowed be thy names. Thy wills be done in the infirmary as they are done in textbooks. Give us this day our daily points and forgive us our shy margins, as we forgive those patients who disappoint us. Lead us not into burnishing and deliver us from the evil of the dental supply dealer—for thine is the kingdom and the power to flunk us for ever and ever, amen.

WE ONLY ASKED - -

"Is Gold Foil Here To Stay?" . . .

Says:

N. Allen: Ask Bill.

B. Allen: Well, well, now, doctor, that's something, that's something.

Applebaum: Best restoration there is . . . uh, spell my name right.

Aria: Heh, heh, . . . what's cooking . . .

Biddington: Not in Arbutus.

Bloxom: Carryeee it back to old Virginnyeee.

Bobenko: Soislapshimwitharightandaleftthesuphesdownitstinks.

(What did he say?—Ed.)

Cabanas: What's that? . . . I got here late . . .

Carroll: Yeah—That's jazzy!

Chavoor: What else could happen to me?

Coleman: Can I take two guesses?

Copen: I'm having the entire interior redone, new rings . . . havya seenit!

Davilla: Naw . . . joost a meenute, mah good fran!

Davis: What's the ketch?

Devier: Ask me tomorrow . . . yesterday was Sunday.

Dodson: Everything is here to stay, Suh.

Doherty: Beat it kid . . . ya bodder me.

Dykes: Hmhmhmhmhm . . .

Edwards: Well—way down yonder in New Orleans . . . Where's Francis?

Fazzalari: Ask me again and I'll tell you off proper.

Fenton: Yes, yes, yes, right, check, check.

Guerrieri: Ask a man who owns one . . .

Grzeczowski: Whattaya . . . a wise guy?

Gordon: I refer you to my colleague . . . KVR.

Gerken: Well, yes . . . if used quietly.

Gold: { ahhhh . . . never use it . . . 6-5 it

Goldberg: } goes.

Griffin: hah - hah - hee - hee (hysterical laughs).

S. George: Where's "here?"

W. George: Ginger alé or soda?

Friedman: What can I say? . . . My hands are tied.

Fridinger: I'd take out a twenty-year endowment for security.

Hill: Ya wouldn't kid me, would ya?

Hinrichs: Wow! . . . Yippeee! . . . I love it! . . . (crash!)

Itturino: Beeg stoff back home . . .

Johnston: Shhhh . . . the walls have ears . . .
Kenneally: St. Anselm's and Maine shall never be foiled!

Kerico: . . . well . . . now . . . let's . . . see . . .

Kukucka: . . . won't last 6 rounds . . . who's he fightin'?

J. J. Lee: I'll wire you from Oregon . . . Buddy!

R. E. Lee: Heh . . . leave us not be "foilish."

Lewis: Gotta check the biomechanical factors firsh . . . Garge.

Loflin: Aw gee whiz, mister . . . don't ask me that.

McGrath: Hah, hah, hah . . . I've only done 52 this week.

Medina: Dr. Randolph and I both approve.

Melendez: Sure . . . boy!

Millert: (Shhhh!)

Meinhold: In my teeth? Are you kidding!

Mollis: Better you should ask me in June.

Monaco: Obviously, my dear colleague, you are impinging upon the sublime.

Neish: I've done 600 and have had no complaints.

Nord: Just a minute, you . . . I ask those questions around here . . .

Page: . . . can't stop now . . . gotta see the dean about the graduation . . .

Pavel: Uh . . . what . . . what . . . yeah . . . yeah . . .

Quintero: Mahn, I'm seeck.

Rapp: . . . Oho . . . the prod, huh?

Ready: I can't tell from way up here.

Reichel . . . Gold Foil! . . . Grrrrrrr!

Scribner: Gee whiz, fellas, I sure hope so.

Stanley: The last one I put in isn't.

Stephens: I'll put in a plug for it.

Strahan: Yeah, but I'm not.

Strollo: Why? What! Ya saw the exam! . . . What's another . . . pssssss!

Thompson: What would any good West Virginian say?

Vikell: I'll trade it for a good cigar any day.

Walter: Ya want the full program?

Ward: Foil? What's thet!

Weber: Haven't got time . . . I'm operating.

Williamowsky: . . . zzzzz . . . zzzzz . . .

S. E. Zimmerman: Longer than I . . . longer than I . . .

E. R. Zimmermann: Black says in volume three, page ten, paragraph 4 . . .

Kenneth Randolph: . . . My name is Randolph (nuff said!).

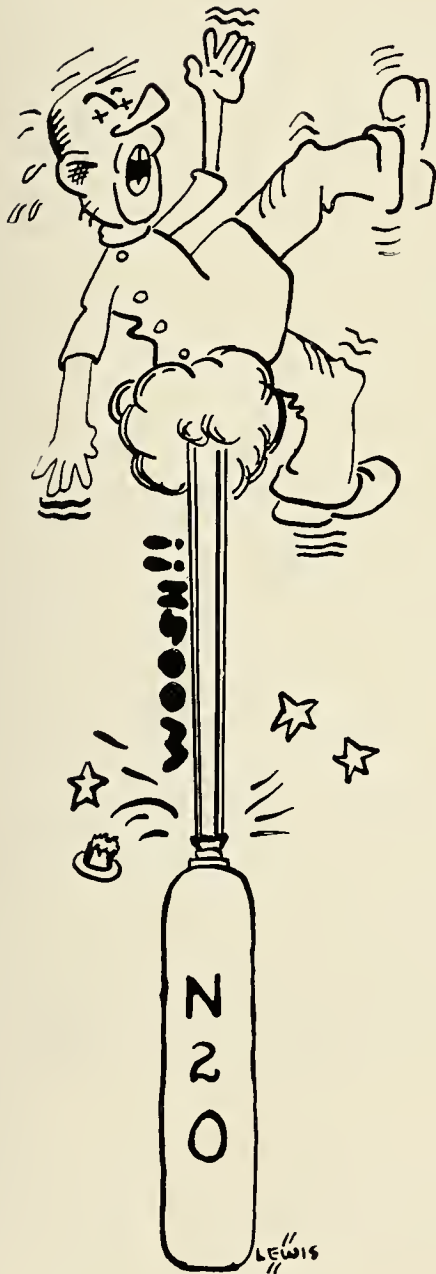

OUR PROFS

Profs are those who:

1. Talk sodamfast you can't take a note.
2. Spend three-quarters of an hour explaining, waste one box of chalk, and after you have taken four pages of notes, tell you that the stuff is not important.
3. Wear blue collars, and walk in the opposite direction when you raise your hand.
4. Wait till you are jammed with work and then throw a quiz.
5. Give you the C's and the other fellows the A's and B's.
6. Tell you not to cram for an exam because it won't be specific, and then ask you for the footnotes and the fine print at the bottom of a page.
7. Call the roll the day you are out.
8. Inquire the date of the next prom and then schedule a test for the day after.
9. Always show slides when it's sunbathing time for the nurses.
10. Give you undivided attention when a shapely member of the opposite sex sits in your chair.
11. Ask to solder your bridges and present you with molten metal.
12. Take your centric and have you reset the teeth.
13. Destroy your patient's alveolar ridge and then complain of a sloppy extraction.
14. Reset the x-ray tube and then rage about your off-center pictures.
15. Will be thanked 15 years hence for teaching you what you know.

EXAMINATION TIME

Biochemistry—How much saliva of a pH of 1.5 in a red-nosed South African baboon is necessary to neutralize the starch in a senior clinic gown?

Anatomy—A bullet pierced the thorax between the 3rd and 4th ribs just lateral to the sternum, entered the right auricle and became lodged in a patent foramen ovale. A second bullet entered the cranium in the left temporal area, severed the middle meningeal artery and stopped in the aqueduct of Sylvius. From your knowledge of anatomy, would you consider the patient's condition serious?

Histology—On one pint of cellular fixing solution how far could wandering cell wander? (I wander—Ed.)

Physiology—If the decompensated heart of a female Ranus Americanus frog dubbed when it should have flubbed—what was the length of its tail as a tadpole? (Calibrate in mm. on a kymograph.)

Pathology—How far in is an infarct?

Pharmacology—How can this course be improved? (How can this question be improved—Ed.)

Nutrition—Give the recipe for sponge cake.

Bacteriology—If typhoid Mary drank from the Broad Street Pump while being bitten by an Anopheles mosquito—true or false?

Crown and Bridge—What are the biological requirements of a good endoform?

Orthodontia—A torsi-versioned lateral is being pulled into place by a Jones triple-wire band at the rate of 2 micra per day; a retarded cuspid is being Egg-natzed into place by a dentigerous cyst at the rate of 14 micra per week; a hypoplastic impacted central is being operated upon by the Surgery Department—Which will be seen first? Give parimutual odds on win, place, and show.

Surgery—How many foot pumps are required to bring one arm of the chair even with the cuspidor?

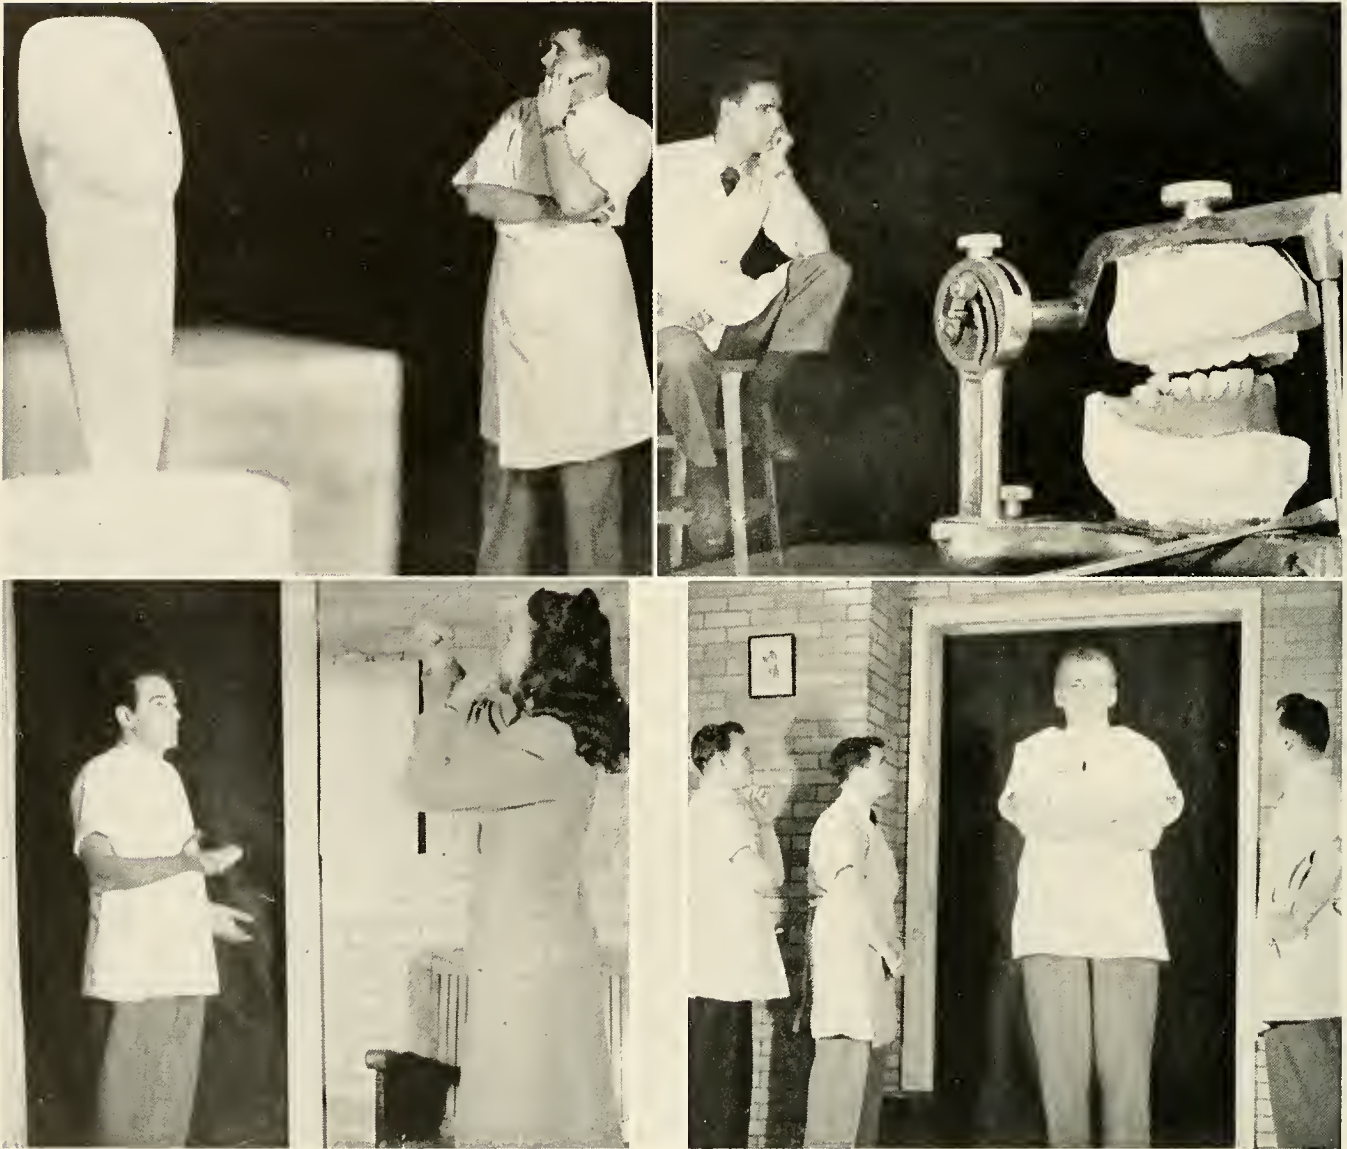

Operative—An unorthodox Cl. II amalgam is being acted on by a C1. I lever at the fractured marginal ridge, by a C1. III lever at the shy buccal margin and a C1. X lever on the occlusal high spot; Underline the correct procedure:

1. Temporize with cavity varnish.
2. Use Killo toothache drops.
3. Transfer patient to a Junior.
4. Retire to lounge for a coke.
5. Cold steel.

Internal Medicine—Would you advise a woman patient with water on the knee to wear pumps?

Prosthetics—What is a Gillette Clasp?

REFLECTIONS . . .

For me the MIRROR of 1948 will reflect a year of pleasant collaboration in the editing of this publication . . . it will reflect the helpfully efficient and valuable advice of Mr. Foley, the undivided strength of my staff, the faithful efforts of Jim, Dave, Tony, Gene, Joe, Bill, Mac, Clem and all the rest, to make the reflection of the MIRROR a clear one . . . it will reflect the aid and suggestions of Mr. Love, Mr. Hicks, Miss Muhl, Miss Ezekiel and Mrs. Williamowsky . . . those who so willingly contributed their time and efforts to the publication. For all of us the MIRROR will reflect the scenes of an unforgettable past . . . the trying events of the years that lie behind, and the molding of the years of our lives that lie ahead.

—BEN A. WILLIAMOWSKY.

Let RITTER Help You Plan for DENTAL LEADERSHIP

Like the majority of the leading dentists of America, you are planning to equip your office with the best—RITTER . . . And like every successful dentist, you are interested in PLANNING TODAY for TOMORROW.

The Ritter Company can help you as it has helped thousands of others—for example:

1. Read "Dentistry's Future" and the Ritter Practice Building Studies. Your Ritter Dealer has them, or write to us for copies.
2. Use the Ritter Statistical Service. We'll furnish facts about the communities you may be considering for your practice.
3. Use the Ritter Office Planning Department. We'll plan every detail of your layout—including decorations.
4. Your Ritter Dealer will explain the Ritter Deferred Payment Plan—you pay for your equipment out of earnings.

Good business planning starts long before you begin to practice. Let us help you start NOW! Ritter Company, Inc., Ritter Park, Rochester 3, N. Y.
